

SILVER PARTY TO BRING OUT TICKETComstock Men Will Act Regardless of Newlands and Sharon.

The silver party, the great party which swept Nevada time after time and which the Democrats have been endeavoring to swallow for the last ten years, is not dead although badly disorganized in many parts of the state, says a Virginia City dispatch to the Carson News. The party was in full power in Nevada, but the leaders of it were so repeatedly hoodwinked and forgotten when it came time for distribution of patronage and pay, that the Democratic wing of the organization finally assumed full control and tried to engulf the organization. However, the silver party on the Comstock will be in full blossom this year and preparations are now underway for the placing of a complete ticket in the field at the coming election.

The men behind the movement are neither Democrats or Republicans, but earnest and sincere believers in the silver cause. They point out that the Democratic party no longer indorses the silver question, that Bryan has wholly deserted the proposition and therefore the fundamental principle of the party can only be maintained and secured through the silver organization. As a consequence scores of the old-line and old-timers of the party have assured the leaders of the movement that they will stand by the party, whether for success or failure.

"The old fight will be made again," said one of the local supporters of the cause this afternoon. "Before the silver party was founded in Nevada and now we expect to begin the fight again, this time on the Comstock. We have learned from bitter experience that the Democrats were not sincere when they came to our party; we will never be caught again."

Interest is added to the matter because of the fact that Senator Newlands and his Nevada manager, W. E. Sharon, want the silver party to quietly die. Several days ago Mr. Sharon sent word to the leaders of the silver party that he and Senator Newlands would not furnish any money, any shrews for organization. "Not a cent for you; get in the Democratic line," Mr. Sharon is reported to have said to the leaders. The leaders, however, announce that they do not need Newlands-Sharon money, never expected or sought it. It is planned to extend the party organization to all parts of the state and the silver party will have high its pristine strength.

Sharon and Newlands are worried over the outlook on the Comstock—their own dunghill.

Bank Clerks Kept Quite Busy.

The clerks of the two banks in this city, the Tonopah Banking corporation and the Nevada First National were kept quite busy yesterday clearing up the work of handing out currency and coin to the extent of $250,000. Of the various companies, the pay roll of the Montana Tonopah, the clerks and officials of the Tonopah Mining company, Tonopah Belmont, Midway, McNamara and West End is handled by the Tonopah Banking corporation, while the labor pay rolls of the Tonopah Mining company and the labor pay roll of the Tonopah and Goldfield railway and the Tonopah Extension, which amounts to over $100,000, is handled by the Nevada First National. The latter also handles the pay roll of the Montgomery Shoshone.

Agnew Out for County Clerk.

Walter J. Agnew is being pressed for the position of county clerk of Nye county by his many friends in Tonopah. Mr. Agnew has lived in Tonopah for four years. On his arrival here he became an accountant with the Tonopah and Goldfield railway, leaving that company to occupy a position with the Nye and Ormaby bank. For a time he was with the brokerage house of H. E. Epstein and company. His position with these companies has fitted him for the office to which he aspires. He is rated as a public spirited young man and is always at the beck and call when his services are needed in any public enterprise. His name will be presented to the Nye county Democratic convention.

Socialist Ticket Placed in the Field.

The Socialist party held its state convention at Sparks, and placed the following ticket before the people:

Presidential electors: E. A. Anderson of Sparks, J. P. Gibson of Tonopah and Charles T. Williams of Rawhide.

For congress: John Critchfield of Goldfield.

For supreme court justice: Emil Lorke of Reno.

For surveyor general: L. B. Hawkins of Carson.

For regents of the state university: Long term, A. A. Higgard of Reno; short term, C. E. Meyers of Rawhide.

URI'S ENCOUNTER
WIT A BULL PUPDisastrous Results to Mine Operator on Visit to Goldfield.

Hereby hangs a tale. The tale of a dog and the tail of Uri Curtis' shirt. Uri has a great fondness for dogs. He has the pedigrees of every kind of dog and his sleeping apartments and den are adorned with oil paintings of dogs. Sunday night there was a dog fest in his neighborhood and all the neighbors were out in an endeavor to put an end to the canine musicale. Uri had great fun giving the jolly to his next door neighbor who threw a rock at the dogs and succeeded in smashing his wife's (the neighbor's) cloisonne vase. But this is another tale.

Yesterday Uri went to Goldfield. Business took him to the railway station. There he espied a dog to which he took a particular fancy. Fixing his eye on Towser he advanced to the dog when a pup of the bull variety grabbed Uri's trousers from the rear and with one mighty tug Uri was sans trousers, sans underwear and with a shirt that resembled streamers of ribbons around a May pole. The dog, fortunately for Uri, failed to get his incisors into the anatomy of the mine operator. A wag suggested that as Uri was wearing a pair of $1.78 trousers marked down to 64 cents and made of cotton cloth suitable for the hot weather, that the product of the south got clogged in the dog's teeth and he was unable to chew.

Kind friends assisted Uri to his auto and a bunch of excelsior was the material used to keep the wind off of Uri's patrician skin until he got to Tonopah, which was late in the evening.

Plan Big Time for Republicans.

There's surely going to be doings when the Republican state convention meets in Goldfield on August 22. At last night's meeting of the county central committee and the Republican club, plans were outlined that insure a season of delight to the Nevada crowd that will swoop down upon the busy little city known as Goldfield, say the Tribune.

Autos, a banquet, a visit to the mines and a number of surprises, the character of which is not revealed at this time, are on the program and will be worked out by a competent committee. Senator Morehouse was named as chairman of the reception committee, J. F. Douglass of the banquet committee and J. S. Corrigan of the decoration committee. The finance committee appointed to raise funds for the convention, reported that it had so far collected $7,500, and expected to gather in a total of at least $20,000 within the next ten days.

The Hippodrome theater has been engaged for the convention, and the choice is considered excellent.

Each Company Has One Credit.

The hose race Sunday evening between the three hose companies was won by No. 1. The race was made to the Tonopah-Goldfield meat market building and in a remarkable short space of time the three companies had water on the building. A large number of people were out to see the race, which shows that the public is interested in the events of the volunteers.

HOT ROAST FOR
ATTORNEY GENERALReno Journal Says Stoddard Mis-understands His Duties.

The Reno Journal is hot on the trail of Attorney General Stoddard for his attitude to Bullion Tax Agent Haley in "passing back the buck" in regard to the collection of revenues on gypsum. The Journal says editorially:

"Without touching on the merits of the contention of State Bullion Tax Collector Haley that gypsum falls within the law under which part of the state's revenue is collected, we must take issue directly with Attorney-General Stoddard as to his duty in the matter, after Mr. Haley had drawn his attention to the facts.

"The state of Nevada, odd as it may appear to Mr. Stoddard, does not maintain the office of attorney general purely to supply Mr. Stoddard with a salary. The incumbent of that office is supposed to advise other state officers among other things, and Mr. Haley followed the proper procedure in applying to the attorney general for counsel in the circumstances.

"Mr. Stoddard is a young man and his elevation to an important and dignified post may have had the usual effect of not wholly earned promotion upon youthful and unprepared minds. Nevertheless, he has now served nearly two years at Carson and it is high time that he should realize the necessity of doing something to earn the pay. The land moneys that have been added to income, we notice, he continues to accept, although there never was any intention on the part of the law that such payments should be made to him. The salary of the office, as provided by law, is in itself more, in the opinion of those who have observed his practice, than he would ever earn in private life.

"Such being the facts, a man with a nice sense of ethic would seek in every way to serve the public, rather than to avoid doing so. The shameful outrage of the State Bank and Trust company could never have been permitted, and its depositors robbed, had the attorney general bestirred himself. Instead of doing anything, however, Stoddard apparently sought only to find a way of keeping his hands off. A really zealous public official in his place would have forced the bank people into the open and would have compelled the bank commission to show its hand. Stoddard was either unprepared or afraid, however, and by his inaction deserved the contempt of the people.

"Now, when he is asked for advice in a matter affecting the revenue of the state, he petulantly stirs in his chair and says: 'Go to the district attorney.'

"The governor has his hands full, or we would suggest that he take a hand in prodding this public official into making at least a show of earning a part of the salary that goes with the attorney generalship."

The Wager Was Stage Money.

Those who witnessed the fight between Freddie Weeks and Kid Dougherty Wednesday night have no doubt of Weeks' ability to trot in any class. A Goldfielder, who was at the ringside when the announcement was made that Hebron would fight any bantam weight in the world and preferred the winner of that fight, both men to make 120 pounds, announced his willingness to back Hebron to the extent of $500. He was accommodated with so many offers to take the bet, which was evidently one of stage money on his part, that he declined to enter into further negotiations. By the time Weeks had polished off Dougherty the Goldfielder had disappeared into the greenroom and was seen no more.

Jaw Broken by a Vicious Blow.

In a row over a trivial matter Thomas Hadlock received a smash on the jaw which caused him to seek the services of a physician, who found it badly shattered and broken. While en route to the doctor's office Hadlock asserts that he was again set upon by another individual and again beaten. Hadlock swore out a warrant for the arrest of Fred Brains and Harry Fay, the charge being assault and battery. The case was to have been heard yesterday afternoon before Judge Brissell, but was postponed until a later date.

Complainant Was Unable to Talk.

The case of Fred Byers and Harry Fey, charged with assault and battery, was called yesterday afternoon in Judge Brissell's court and owing to the complaining witness, Thomas Hadlock, being unable to speak on account of a broken jaw, the trial was postponed until August 29. It will be a jury trial and part of the jury had been secured yesterday before it was discovered that Hadlock was unable to talk.

NEW ORE BODY
ON THE SPHINXColonel Weber of Round Mountain
Passages Through to Goldfield.

Col. John Weber of the Round Mountain Sphinx passed through Tonopah yesterday on his way to Goldfield, where he goes to confer with General Manager W. H. Clark relative to increasing the capacity of the Sphinx mill. The mill which is capable of treating twenty-five tons a day is inadequate to handle the product of the mine though the cleanup for last month was better than $11,000. In the Sphinx a new body of ore was encountered while crosscutting on the 200-foot level that was heretofore unknown. The ledge is believed to have no apex on the surface. They encountered it while crosscutting on this level for the forty-foot ledge which is now being worked on the 150-foot level and which has been supplying the mill with its ore.

"Dad" Clark, who is secretary of the great Nevada Hills and general manager of the Sphinx, and who is rated as one of the best mining men in the west says that the Sphinx has the making of one of the biggest mines in Nevada.

During the absence of Colonel Weber, J. E. Fryer, secretary of the company, who represent the Lorillard and Weir brothers, has charge of the property.

Flanigan to Get Endorsement.

Within the last few days a wave of sentiment has swept over the state which will probably result in Senator P. L. Flanigan of Reno being indorsed at the Republican convention in Goldfield as the candidate for the United States senatorship, says the Reno Gazette.

From all parts of the state there has been a unanimous demand that Flanigan be the man to make the winning fight against Newlands, and although he has as yet made no statement of his intentions, there is little doubt but that he will be made the nominee. The party feels that if a strong man is named at the Goldfield convention there is practically no doubt but that Newlands will be defeated, and the general opinion is that P. L. Flanigan is the strongest man in the party today.

The demand that Senator Flanigan accept this indorsement will be one of the few instances in the state where this high office within the gift of the state has sought the man. Senator Flanigan has made absolutely no effort to obtain the indorsement, and has not yet signified his intention of accepting it. But it is hoped and believed that if the party unanimously asks that he be the candidate he will yield to the demand and make the fight against Newlands.

Every day sees the impression growing stronger that Newlands is to be defeated this year, and with a ticket composed of Senator Flanigan for United States senator, J. F. Douglas for congressman, and Hugh Brown for supreme judge, there would be a wave of enthusiasm that would sweep everything before it. It looks now as if that will be the ticket, and the reports coming from various parts of the state show that those three men will receive practically the unanimous support of the Goldfield convention.

Millers Nearly Washed Away.

A high wind, accompanied by an immense volume of water swept down upon Millers Sunday morning about 11 o'clock. For a time it was thought that many buildings would be washed away. The roof of the grand stand at the ball ground was blown off, carrying the supports with it. On the diamond there were fully six inches of water. Ballast under the railway track at a number of places was washed out, but section hands speedily repaired the break, so there was practically no interference with railway travel. A phone to this city called off the ball game that was to have been played between the Montanas and Millers teams.

Henderson May Be Dark Horse.

As the elected Reno delegation stands, the Bartlett men can be numbered upon the fingers of one hand, not counting the thumb. John Sunderland, Dr. Gibson, O. W. Coughlin and possibly two others are Bartlett men. The others are either for Pat McCarran or for a "dark horse," evoked yesterday and made to resemble one Charles B. Henderson of Elko county.—Reno Journal.

PAINFUL CHEERFULNESS.

Cheerfulness is sometimes painfully acquired. It's frequently like the man at the photographer's. This man, sitting for his portrait, said patiently to the artist: "Well, have I got now the pleasant expression you desire?"

"Yes, thank you," said the photographer; "that will do nicely."

"Then hurry up," growled the man; "it hurts my face."—Exchange.

BARTLETT THERE
BY AN EYELASHOnly Day Round Mountain Editor
Recognizes is Saturday.

The drinks are on Henry Bartlett this time. Henry is an up-to-date politician—maybe. At the late Democratic primaries in which brother George was interested, Henry was supposed to handle the Round Mountain delegation. Now when it comes to fine-haired, get-there-or-die delegate handlers, Oh, there is nothing to it but Henry. He has such pastmasters in the fine art of corraling delegates as Bathhouse John and Hinky Dink of Chicago backed off the boards. Matt Quay and Roger Sullivan would be at the post while Henry was passing under the wire getting the purses as well as the plaudits of the people. It is said of him that on one occasion down in Kentucky he occupied the pulpit in a Methodist church and by his powerful exhortation caused the election of a kid-glove plate passer in an Episcopal church against the biggest Amen shouter in the state. At another time he carried a prohibitionist to victory with the votes of half a dozen Kentucky colonels whom he had induced to get on the water wagon for the space of twenty-four hours. It is needless to say that the cards had been stacked and the prohibitionist fell off the wagon with the rest of the bunch.

But to our knittin', as they say in Missouri. Henry was born on Saturday, the Round Mountain Nugget is issued on Saturday and a new buzz cart was due on Saturday. In the Bartlett home at Round Mountain all the dates on the calendars have little white tabs pasted on them save Saturdays. Well, the primaries happened on Thursday and that is where Henry almost lost out. He had been out with a friend from the east and took him up to the highest peak to point out the glories of the great camp of Round Mountain. The mountain dew was quite heavy when Henry returned in the evening. He was met at the door of his residence by his wife, who sweetly said: "Henry, pretty near the whole male population of the camp has been here inquiring for you; there must have been a strike on Hydraulics, but no it could not have been that so it must have been on one of the new leases, because they called it the Primaries"—and then Henry disappeared so quickly that the family hit the telephone for physicians.

Unreliable authorities say that Henry got his vote in by an eyelash.

Firemen Issue Challenge to Cops.

The clashing of the clans. Stop! Look! Listen!

At the volunteer fire department meeting last night it was agreed that Captain George Swasey of the firemen's ball team should challenge Captain Ed Malley of the police force and his aggregation to a game of baseball, to be played with baseballs on the baseball diamond. Here it is in full:

To Ed Malley, et al:

You and your gumshoe following are hereby and herewith challenged to meet that great and grand collection of world's famous ball players known as the volunteer fire department team, in a battle to the death at the California heights diamond at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The prize will be a keg of beer to be placed on third base and it is hereby stipulated that those desiring to make the acquaintance of the said keg shall have to advance to third base in the regulation form and no cutting of bases will be allowed, third base excepted (for no sane policeman would ever think of passing by that base).

It is further ordained that the losing team shall defray all expenses attached to the purchase of the keg and the beer.

Professionally yours,
GEORGE SWASEY,
Captain T. V. F. D. B. B. T.

Pay Day for the Miners.

Monday was pay day in Tonopah and Millers and quite an amount of coin of the realm was passed out to the miners and from them to the merchants and business men. Pay day comes with a regularity in Tonopah that is equalled in but few places and the circulating of this large sum of money means much to the people of this community.

Cloudburst at Golden Arrow.

People just in from Golden Arrow report a cloudburst near the ranch of Tude Reed in that section, caused a flood of three feet of water over the latter's farm. No lives were lost, but the damage to property is considerable.

The shades of night were falling fast,

When Uri B. was seen hitting the trail;

His cry was not "Excelsior!"

But "Where are my pants?"

WILL EXTEND THEIR
GEAT HOSPITALITYDelegates to Democratic State Convention Will be shown Good Time

A meeting called for the purpose of considering the subject of entertaining the delegates to the coming Democratic state convention was held last night at the Miners' Union hall, at which quite a few prominent professional and business men were in attendance. Sheriff J. J. Owens was in the chair and stated that the purpose of the gathering was to devise ways and means for furnishing entertainment to the guests of this city at that time. Quite a discussion followed the remarks of the chairman, participated in by R. P. Dunlap, J. J. McQuillan, J. J. Degan and others. The consensus of opinion was that irrespective of politics the city should see to it that every advantage and the hospitality of the city should be extended. A committee was appointed to confer with business men and solicit subscriptions to defray the expenses in connection with the entertainment of the delegates. Committees on reception, entertainment and information were also appointed.

MERRY WIDOW IS IN TONOPAH

"The Merry Widow Brown," is an acquittal, all the evidence was of the exculpatory rather than the corroborative sort and nobody storied. There is much that might be said of Mrs. Brown, but the town folks say that she was discreet, not loud, and popular because she was Bohemian.

Mrs. Ballet told the life story of this widow last evening in a tuneful way, and sang "Mamma's Boy" with a military effect, creating the most favorable comment from large audiences, and inviting applause that was a monument to her delightful voice, and manner of interpreting.

Alfred Kells did a dance, and then done it again because the audience demanded it. Singing the "Old See-Saw" he told a whole lot of things about kids, and such things, and we wonder if it isn't a good idea to become reminiscent and kind of figure out that plank that we rode up and down on, and dream of the things which are finished—but hadn't ought to be.

Mrs. Ballet and Alfred Kells will be heard again this evening only at the Butler. The entire program is of the finished sort.

Tonopah People to Tour Alps.

Mountains, lofty peaks and hazardous ascents tell things. A variety of entertainment is invited by most people; because it is relative rather than inherent, that we enjoy novelty. Seeing the Alps mountains as they are, noting the perpendicular climbs, and the exhibition of intelligence displayed by the St. Bernard dogs in the life-saving service, the monks who sacrifice all things for their fellow men.

Every citizen of Tonopah can tour the Alps at the Butler theater this evening. The picture is a vacation without going to Switzerland.

Mrs. Ballet will sing—it was only two nights, but something happened—and Mr. Haas just laughed—and I was there, and I was pleased, too—because Letson Ballet said that she could sing the balance of this week.

Mrs. Ballet has earned well deserved praise by her work. The theater patrons are impressed by her original indulgence in comic opera numbers, and accordingly given the title of a dainty ingenue.

An entire change of program this evening: Billy Walker, Nora Emmett, Mrs. Ballet, new motion pictures.

The Butler theater.

Charles Howard, a prominent business and mining man of Hornsiver, came up from the south yesterday and is registered at the Palace.
